Should you be currently deciding on which celebrant to choose, please take these points into consideration:

1. Will the celebrant be on time?

I only book one celebration per day. This way I am exclusively focused on your ceremony. I will arrive at least half an hour early. This way I can help to settle guests (or groom) and answer any questions prior to the ceremony starting. It also means that I won't be rushing your ceremony to get to the next!

2. Will the celebrant allow a free initial interview?

I am happy to meet with you just to see if you feel comfortable with me. No obligation or hard sales pitch. It's your special day so you need to find someone that you "click" with.

3. Will the celebrant allow you to design your own ceremony?

I am able to provide you with the resources to design your own ceremony with as much or as little assistance as you require. I will not demand that you use a set ceremony or set readings. I will help you to design a personalised ceremony that you feel happy about and that involves the people that you love.

4. Can I have themed wedding?

Sometimes it makes it easier to plan a ceremony if you have a set theme (eg. butterflies, medieval, blue jeans, etc). I am happy to assist you with your theme.

5. Does the celebrant have a PA system?

The most common complaint at ceremonies is that guests cannot hear what is being said. I have a PA system that also plays CD's.

6. Does the celebrant provide a free rehearsal?

If requested, I can provide a rehearsal of your ceremony at no extra cost.

7. Does the celebrant coordinate outfits with those participating in the ceremony?

Photographs are an important keepsake from your day. I will coordinate my outfit so that I do not "clash" with your theme or colour scheme.

8. What else does the celebrant provide in the cost?

I am able to provide:

- interviews and progress meetings in your own home
- the table for signing the register (with appropriate table covering)
- a feather quill pen to sign the register with
- a newlywed name change kit
- a typed copy of your ceremony as a keepsake
